

ANGEL OF PRISONS PASSES FROM EARTH

Aged Mrs. Schaffner Dies at Her Home in New York.

LONG YEARS OF RELIEF WORK

Her Ministrations Chiefly Among Men. Many Prisoners Received From Her Practical Assistance—Knew Neither Race, Creed, Nor Nationality.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Mrs. Ernestine Schaffner, known as the "Tomb Angel" previous to entry of Mrs. Foster into rescue work, died at her home, No. 70 West Fifth Street, late Wednesday night. She had been in poor health for several years. She never entirely recovered from the effects of a fall about five years ago. Recently she had been suffering from a complication of heart and kidney trouble, which caused her death.

Native of Germany.

Born in Hesse Cassel, Germany, seventy years ago, Mrs. Schaffner came to this country when a girl. She was married to a builder and contractor. After her marriage she became interested in the prisoners at the Tombs and was soon a daily visitor there. She was small of stature and had large brown eyes and a sympathetic manner, which soon gained the confidence of the prisoners.

Possessor of Moderate Wealth.

When Mrs. Foster joined her in the work she devoted most of her time to the male prisoners, as Mrs. Foster did to the women. Being the possessor of moderate wealth and a holder of real estate, she was able to be of practical assistance. Creed, race or nationality made no difference to her.

LAST HONORS FOR DEAD ENGLISH AMBASSADOR

Remains of Lord Pauncefoot to Be Conveyed to England on a United States Warship.

Within a few days arrangements will be completed for sending the remains of the late British ambassador, Lord Pauncefoot, to England for interment. Rear Admiral Joseph B. Coghlan, U. S. N., is now in the city, and much of the responsibility for the proper carrying out of the proposed last honors will devolve upon him.

So far as outlined the arrangements contemplate that the remains of Lord Pauncefoot be taken to Annapolis, Md., by a special funeral train over the Pennsylvania Railroad. Thence the body will be placed aboard the United States flag ship Brooklyn, commanded by Rear Admiral Coghlan, for conveyance to England.

On British shores, probably at Southampton, the remains will be met by Lady Pauncefoot and the Hon. Misses Pauncefoot, who will precede the Brooklyn to England on the steamship St. Louis, which sails from New York city on June 26. The date for the sailing of the Brooklyn from Annapolis is now fixed as July 2.

The remains of the dead ambassador should reach England about July 20.

Not until the day before the sailing of the Brooklyn from Annapolis will the body be taken from the vault at Rock Creek Cemetery, where it was placed after the funeral services at old St. John's Church.

Although plans for the funeral escort from the cemetery to the railroad depot in this city are yet tentative, it is very likely that honors of a military and naval character similar to those taken at the funeral of Lord Pauncefoot, last month, will be arranged. If such is the case, troops of cavalry from Fort Myer, Va., marines from the navy yard and Norfolk, Va., and a corps of army engineers from the Washington Barracks, will act as a guard of honor, to accompany the body of the distinguished dead until it is finally placed on board of the special funeral train in the local depot. Orders to this effect will probably be given during the next few days.

On the early arrival of Lady Pauncefoot and the Hon. Misses Pauncefoot in England, and prior to the date of the Brooklyn's arrival there, members of the family will perfect arrangements for the interment of the body of Lord Pauncefoot at Preston Court, the home of Lord Pauncefoot.

It is probable Rear Admiral Coghlan will accompany the body from his ship to Preston Court in person, that he may be present at the final funeral services and interment, as special representative of the United States.

AUTOMOBILE RUINED BY A GASOLINE BLAZE

Flames Totally Destroy a Millionaire's Motor.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 20.—A gasomotor worth $5,000 was destroyed by fire today in Sewickley, a fashionable suburb, while two companies battled with the flames. The machine was the property of C. B. McVay, millionaire president of the Pittsburgh Trust Company, and was driven by a chauffeur, Mr. McVay being the only other occupant.

The machine was not working properly and both dismounted to ascertain the cause. They found the gasoline tank leaking and while they were examining it it suddenly ignited. A bystander pulled a fire alarm box and two companies were suddenly on the scene. Both chemical extinguishers and water were played on the flames, but they were not extinguished until the machine was ruined.

GIVING UP THE WORLD FOR RELIGION'S SAKE

Two Young Women Become Brides of the Church.

Take the White Veil at St. Agnes Convent Chapel at Mount Washington.

BALTIMORE, June 20.—In the presence of their friends and former associates and surrounded by the Sisters of Mercy, with whom their lives are cast for the future, two young women took the white veil yesterday afternoon at Mount St. Agnes Convent, Mount Washington, the mother house of the order of the Sisters of Mercy. The postulants were Miss Marie Katherine Foley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Foley, of Ellerslie, Ellicott City, and Miss Julie O'Meara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Meara, of New York. Miss Foley will be known in religion as Sister Mary Leo, while Miss O'Meara will be known as Sister Mary Wilfred.

Through the open windows of the little chapel of the convent the songs and calls of the bird-dwellers in the beautiful groves around the convent could be heard as the friends of the two young brides of the church assembled. The coming of the bridal party was announced by the strains of "O Gloria Virginum," sung by the convent choir. The cross-bearer led the way, and two by two the Sisters followed. Each carried a lighted taper, and over the black habit each wore the long white church cloak, which is used only on great festive occasions. Following the Sisters came the two candidates for the novitiate, escorted by Rev. Mother M. Aloysius and her assistant.

The young probationers were in bridal array. Their gowns were alike, and were severely plain, but strikingly handsome costumes of heavy white satin brocade. Their long tulle veils, which fell to the end of their trains, were held in place by clusters of white flowers.

The candidates for the white veil and habit of the order were conducted toward the altar, and the Sisters took their places in their high-backed stalls. Advancing to the altar each of the candidates received from Rev. C. F. Thomas, rector of St. Ann's Church, who officiated during the ceremony, a candle lighted from the glowing lights on the altar, as a symbol of the inward light which dispels the darkness of ignorance and error.

Before the other insignia of their new life were given to the young women, a sermon was preached by the Rev. Joseph Daily, C. S. R., of St. Alphonsus Church, New York, on the excellencies of the religious life.

Father Thomas put the customary questions to candidates as to their purpose in asking admission to the order. The responses to this having been given, the young women, escorted by the Mother Superior and her assistant, retired to change their bridal gowns for the habit and veil of the order—the emblems of their separation from the world and of inward purity. They received the eucharist, the emblem of immortality, on their return, and reciting the solemn words of the Regnum Mun di—"The empire of the world and all the grandeur of the earth I have despised for the love of our Lord Jesus"—signified their renunciation of the world. The concluding prayers having been said by the officiating clergyman, the white veiled novices went from Sister to Sister and received the kiss of peace. The benediction concluded the ceremony.

Immediately after the ceremony Sister Mary Leo and Sister Mary Wilfred received their friends in the convent parlors, and the guests were served to the guests by the other members of the community. At the request of the parents of the two young novices their bridal gowns will be presented to the convent for use as altar cloaks, capes or vestments.

Two years' novitiate is required of all who are admitted into the order before they are allowed to take the final step which binds them irrevocably to the religious life.

JEALOUSY CAUSE OF RICHMOND MURDER?

Search Being Made for Miss Mamie Holland.

CLUE FOUND IN LOVE LETTER

Mystery Surrounding Violent Death of Marc J. Spyers, of New York, at the Hotel Murphy in Virginia Capital Still Puzzles Detectives.

RICHMOND, Va., June 20.—The work of the detectives here has developed the fact that F. L. Aikman, another man thought to know something about the murder of Marc J. Spyers, of New York, is now missing. He is also thought to know something about the whereabouts of Miss Mamie Holland, who lived here as the wife of the murdered man. She lived at 200 Seventeenth Street and was with Spyers at Murphy's Hotel while he was here. Detective A. M. Tomlinson, of this city, believes that Aikman is now in Georgia. He was located there some time ago. It is said that Aikman is the only man who had any definite knowledge of the infatuation of Miss Holland for Spyers, and that he can tell a great deal as to what happened while they were here.

The Jealousy Theory.

It was learned from the detectives today that Spyers and Aikman had some trouble over work they had done for the order known as the Knights of the Golden Horseshoe, and that they are wanted here. If the murder was done it was doubtless the result of jealousy. Whether or not the missing woman was the cause of the jealousy cannot be ascertained.

The jealousy theory is somewhat strengthened by the finding of a letter in the room of the murdered man in Murphy's Hotel, addressed to Miss Holland, New York, but in which the writer states that if Miss Holland knew how Spyers laughed at her being such a fool she would not be so much in love with him.

Mentions Another's Name.

The letter also says that Spyers does not care anything for her, and mentions the name of another woman the writer said he loved.

Mrs. Spyers, who was legally married to the murdered man, is now at her home in New York, and is said to be prostrated with grief. The case is being thoroughly investigated both in this city and New York, but as yet the detectives are unable to learn how Spyers was murdered or get any information as to the identity of the person who committed the crime, which has caused such a sensation.

THE PECULIAR POWER OF A FEATHERWEIGHT

Weighs Only 105 Pounds, But He Cannot Be Lifted.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 20.—R. H. Mack, of Brooklyn, reached this city Wednesday evening and shortly afterward became interested in a conversation between a couple of men that were talking about their strength. "Neither of you can lift me from the floor," said Mr. Mack, "and I weigh but 105 pounds." Both men laughed at the idea, and one of them, a big fellow weighing about 200 pounds attempted to pick the little man up. Mack placed the tips of his fingers against the man's neck and, although the big man strained until he was perspiring and his face as red as a beet, he could not budge Mack from the floor. A crowd soon gathered in the hotel exchange, and nearly all of them tried to lift Mack, but without success. He took his fingers off the men's necks and they lifted him way above their heads, but the instant he touched them it seemed that they were powerless to lift him. Mack has been examined by many prominent physicians, but none of them can give any satisfactory explanation of his strange power.

DIRECTOR ROBERTS TO RELINQUISH OFFICE

Will Resign Control of Mint Bureau for Newspaper Work.

It is reported from Des Moines, Iowa that Mr. George E. Roberts, director of mint of the Treasury Department, has bought the "Iowa State Register," published in Des Moines. It is also reported in this connection that Mr. Roberts intends to resign his position at the Treasury to give his full attention to the management of the property.

The "Register" since 1870 has been conducted by the Clarkson family, of which the present surveyor of the port of New York, Gen. John S. Clarkson, is the best known member outside of the State. It is one of the best known newspapers in Iowa, and has long been the Republican organ at Des Moines.

It is said that Mr. Roberts will assume possession of the latter part of this month. He holds a high place among the political leaders of Iowa and many see in his present move a purpose to associate himself more closely with its public affairs. Mr. Roberts bought the "Fort Dodge Daily Messenger" newspaper property about 1875. He was State printer for six years, and was appointed director of the mint in 1898 by President McKinley. Mr. Roberts is said to have purchased the "Register" on his own account exclusively. He has been political manager for Senator Dolliver, of whom he is a neighbor in Fort Dodge.

NEWS AND GOSSIP FROM GEORGETOWN

Mr. Francis Edward Craig, of Georgetown, will be ordained into the Catholic priesthood tomorrow at the Cathedral in Baltimore. A number of the Jesuits of the Georgetown University will witness the impressive ceremony. Many of the parishioners of Trinity Church have received invitations to attend the ordination. Mr. Craig received his theological education at St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore. On Sunday he will celebrate his first high mass at 10:30 a. m. at Trinity Church, Georgetown.

A successful lawn fete was given last night on the grounds around the old Boggs home on Dumbarton Avenue, between Thirty-first and Thirtieth Streets northwest, under the auspices of the choir of Christ Church. Moving pictures, musical selections by the Columbia Mandolin Quartet, and dancing were features. The proceeds will be turned into the outing fund of the choir.

The members of the choir will leave shortly for their annual outing down the Potomac. Choir Master Glover will have charge.

Vernon Dixon, an eight-year-old colored boy, residing at No. 33 Factory Hill northwest, was taken to the Georgetown University Hospital about 6:30 last night, to be treated for what was thought to be internal injuries. The boy was riding on a dirt wagon, driven by Paul Wright, on Grace Street, near Thirty-second, when he fell from his seat beneath the wheels of the heavy vehicle, which passed over the lower portion of the body. At the time he seemed in great agony. Upon examination at the hospital, however, it was discovered that he was but slightly injured and was sent to his home shortly afterward.

The long standing claim of Mrs. Catherine McGowan, administratrix of the estate of the late M. A. McGowan, of Georgetown, against the United States, has been allowed by the Court of Claims. Mrs. McGowan will receive about $10,000. The claim was for work done on the Pittsburgh (Pa.) postoffice and courthouse and for material and implements of construction belonging to the United States Government in completion of the building after the contract for construction was taken from him because of delays over which, it is alleged, he had no direct control. The claim has been before the court for eight or nine years.

At Trinity Church this morning requiem mass was celebrated over the remains of Mr. Nicholas T. Crowley, Jr., who died on Wednesday at his residence, 3617 O Street northwest. Short services were held at the late residence of the deceased at 8:30, and at 9 o'clock the remains were removed to the church. The interment was made at Holy Rood Cemetery.

The members of Silver Star Lodge of Tenleytown held a social meeting last night at their hall on the Brookline Road. A musical and literary entertainment was given, the participants being members of the lodge. Near the close of the evening's enjoyment an old-time "spelling bee" was held, which was won by Mr. Howard C. Riley, the prize being a gold dollar.

"FORCE"

"Ever notice how a song will go with an audience if it arouses the memory of a pleasing taste?" asked the first-nighter.

"Take that little song on the New York roof. Goes something like this:

"Everybody's awful good to me,
Doncher know
I'm as sweet as any girl can be,
Doncher know
They took away my oatmeal,
But instead they gave me 'FORCE';
Everybody's awful good to me."

"Tune's nothing extra; no sentiment; nothing particularly funny in it—yet every night the house goes wild. Only one way I can explain it. 'FORCE' is a mighty good breakfast food; has a dainty, delicate flavor, is crisp and flaky—just the kind of a dish that a man's glad to see when he sits down to breakfast from force of habit and not because he wants to eat. It leaves a mighty pleasant taste, and, to my mind, it's the memory of that pleasant taste that causes the audience to appreciate so thoroughly that little song."

"FORCE" is a combination of the whole of the wheat and barley malt. Wheat contains all elements necessary for the sustenance and proper regulation of every organ of the body. It combines these elements in such proportions that no organ is overworked or under-exercised in the processes of digestion and assimilation.

Because malt is blended with the whole of the wheat, "FORCE" is a perfect food for the overworked or under-exercised stomach, as well as for the stomach in perfect health. Malt is the best natural tonic. In the manufacture of "FORCE" various chemical changes take place in both the wheat and malt which ordinarily are brought about in the first stages of normal and healthy digestion. This food, therefore, is quickly and easily assimilated, but still gives the various organs of the body sufficient exercise to keep them in perfect condition.

"FORCE" requires no cooking, and is delicious cold or warm.
